DUBLIN AP -- The Irish army blew up the remnant of Dublin's Nelson Monument today and in the process broke windows all around.

The plan called for the rest of the column to topple more or less in one piece into an open space. Instead it disintegrated, peppering the area with fragments.

China Irks Castro

HAVANA AP -- Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today Cuba is prepared for a break in diplomatic relations with Communist China, which he accused of "launching an imperialist-type campaign against Cuba."

He also denied rumors of growing internal opposition to his Communist government.

In an angry 4 1/2-hour speech, Castro said Peking apparently was trying to provoke a break in relations by carrying out a "new campaign of calumny" and continuing its "economic aggressions" against his country.

Castro said he was considering limiting the number of Chinese officials in Cuba as a result of a Chinese request to take out of the country trucks, cars and other large equipment belonging to Peking's representatives in Cuba.

The deterioration in relations between Havana and Peking became known Jan. 2 when Castro accused China of reneging on an agreement to supply Cuba with 250,000 tons of rice this year. Peking said he was lying.

Stars Snub Royal Show

LONDON (AP) -- Charlie Chaplin, Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando turned down invitations to tonight's royal film show, where the stars meet Queen Elizabeth II.

Vivian Cox, organizer of the royal presentation, said "I don't regard this as a snub to the queen." But the cancellations from Brando and Miss Loren at the last minute were described by one of the promoters as "a cloud of embarrassment."

Invitations to the annual royal show for charity always have been prized by stage and film stars.

Chaplin, 76, who is producing and directing "A Countess from Hong Kong," his first movie in 10 years in London, said he was "honored and thrilled" to be asked to be master of ceremonies at the stage presentation of the royal film show. But he turned down the invitation because he said his filming from early morning until late at night.

Miss Loren and Brando are the stars of the Chaplin film. Miss Loren, after accepting an invitation to tonight's show, said her film commitments would not allow her to appear.

Of Brando's absence, Cox said: "I have not heard his reason and I don't know anyone who has."

McClellan's decision drew no comment from Gov. Orval Faubus, who returned Sunday from Washington and a conference on anti-poverty programs. There has been speculation that Faubus might seek a Senate seat this year instead of a seventh term as governor.

Session Tackles 2 Issues

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- Missouri's special legislative session goes into action again today on two fronts.

The Senate scheduled an afternoon meeting and its first series of committee hearings on some of the non-budget problems submitted by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The House Appropriations Committee went back into closed session for more head scratching over its billion dollar money problems.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee took its first look at a bill to enact the uniform corporate income tax law in Missouri. Its sponsor, Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, says if Congress takes over this field, Missouri stands to lose as much as $50 million in tax revenue next year.

Another committee planned to hear a bill to set up a system for state and regional planning. Many federal grants, especially in the war on poverty program, are contingent on development of community planning.

Another committee scheduled a hearing on the governor's recommendation for a cut in the unemployment tax rate, designed to save Missouri employers about $17 million. Reserves are a record high and are said to be ample to meet unemployment compensation claims.

The House is in recess this week in the hope the Appropriations Committee can get the money bills in shape for consideration on the floor next week.

"I'll continue to paint the barns until the cows come home," Dill said. "It's proving very effective."

Plot Against U.S. Foiled

SINGAPORE (AP) -- The army takeover in Indonesia reportedly foiled a plot by Foreign Minister Subandrio to attack the U.S. Embassy in Jakarta, sources in Singapore said today.

The sources said Subandrio had urged pro-Communist forces to launch the attack in retaliation for student raids last week on Chinese Communist offices in Jakarta.

The U.S. Embassy burned all its secret documents when it learned of the plans for goons supporting Subandrio to seize documents and burn the embassy, the sources said.

Profiteer in War Executed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) -- South Viet Nam's military government executed a war profiteer today and sentenced a former official to death for embezzling $104,000 in public funds.

Ta Vinh, 34, a wealthy businessman of Chinese descent, was tied at dawn to an execution stake in the Saigon marketplace while a battalion of Vietnamese paratroopers sealed the area to prevent any interference from the city's large Chinese population.

Later in the day, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's special anti-corruption tribunal pronounced the death sentence on Dang Cao Sach, 52, former treasury service chief in the mountain resort of Dalat, 150 miles northeast of Saigon, for embezzlement going back to 1956 to cover gambling debts and extravagant living. Sach, father of six, pleaded guilty and asked for leniency.

Ky, who attended the opening session of Vinh's trial, has promised to wage an unrelenting war against widespread graft and price manipulation that has contributed to the country's inflation.

Vinh, a father of eight, was convicted of "economic sabotage." The charges against the import-export firm manager included hoarding, speculation, illegal transfer of funds and bribery. The government rejected appeals for clemency.

Vinh's wife, wailing and shouting in English, Chinese and Vietnamese, appeared at the square with seven of her children to plead for her husband's life. National police kept her behind the barred wire from sight of the execution as the bullets from the 10-man army firing squad tore into Vinh's chest.

While the political effect of the execution remained unclear, a different problem for the government appeared to be simmering down. Shops reopened in Da Nang this morning after two days of peaceful demonstrations there protesting the dismissal of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thia as commander of the army's 1st Corps.

Diefenbaker Says There Is No Security Threat

OTTAWA (AP) -- Former Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker asserted Sunday night that associations between a German woman and one or more members of his Conservative government were no threat to Canadian security.

Diefenbaker told newsmen that Justice Minister Lucien Cardin, who started Canada with his charges of a sex and security scandal in the previous government, should name the former Cabinet ministers he claims were involved with Gerda Munzinger.

Mrs. Munzinger, who Cardin said was in espionage work before she came from Germany to Canada, said during the week and she had been friendly with Pierre Seigny, Diefenbaker's assistant defense secretary.

Diefenbaker hastened back from a fishing trip in British Columbia to defend himself in the House of Commons against Cardin's charge that he had failed to hand over the file on the Munzinger case to government legal advisers.

Mrs. Munzinger, a 36-year-old blonde now living in Munich, Germany, has said she is willing to come to Canada to prove that she was never a spy.

Mrs. Munzinger was denied entry to the United States as a security risk a number of years ago.

U.S. Eyes War Costs

DETROIT (AP) -- Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today the Johnson administration is "watching carefully" events in Viet Nam to determine if its budget plans for fiscal 1967 will be adequate.

"We want to watch and weigh all developments carefully -- those that point up, and those that point down to a leveling, and those that point down," Fowler said in remarks prepared for a meeting of Economic Club of Detroit.

"We do not want to put the brakes on unnecessarily or too fast," Fowler said, adding that as things stand now "we expect the fiscal 1967 budget to pass or approach balance."

The Viet Cong shot down a single-engine U.S. Army L19 spotter plane on a reconnaissance flight this morning 40 miles northeast of Saigon. The pilot was injured and rescued. His observer was killed.

Couple Held Delayed On Charge Of Forgery By Leaks In Rocket

BENTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Winfield of Morley, are being held in the Scott County jail on charges of forgery.

Winfield, age 26, was arrested Friday afternoon in Chaffee on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

He was placed in the jail here and Saturday morning his wife, Betty, age 21, posted $500 bond for him.

Fifteen minutes after he was released, Scott County Prosecuting Attorney Fielding Potashnick called Deputy Sheriff Jack Stewart and told him that the Oran bank had called and told him that Betty Winfield had just cashed $500 in forged checks on which the name of "Roger Allen" appeared as signer.

Stewart charged that Alfred Winfield had signed the checks. Winfield had been employed by Roger at East Prairie.

Scott County authorities arrested the couple on charges of forgery at Morley, and brought them back to Benton.

Winfield ran away on the way to jail. Stewart fired a gun into the air and Winfield fell on the ground.

He was then placed in jail and a $5,000 bond was set for him.

His wife has a $500 bond set for her.

U.S. Eyes War Costs

DETROIT (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today the Johnson administration is "watching carefully" events in Viet Nam to determine if its budget plans for fiscal 1967 will be adequate.

"We want to watch and weigh all development carefully — those that point up, and those that point down," Fowler said in remarks prepared for a meeting of Economic Club of Detroit.

"We do not want to put the brakes on unnecessarily or too fast," Fowler said, adding that as things stand now "we expect the fiscal 1967 budget to pass or approach balance."

Cigarette Prices Raised

NEW YORK AP -- The American Tobacco Co. announced today it was raising the price on all brands of its cigarettes, except one, effective immediately.

A company spokesman said the increase would amount to a penny a pack for the consumer although officially the price boost is figured in lots of 1,000 cigarettes.

The one exception, the company said, was Pall Mall filter cigarettes on which the price was reduced from $12 to $9.40 a thousand.

Couple Held Delayed On Charge Of Forgery In Rocket

BENTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Winfield of Morley, are being held in the Scott County jail on charges of forgery.

Winfield, age 26, was arrested Friday afternoon in Chaffee on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

He was placed in the jail here and Saturday morning his wife, Betty, age 21, posted $500 bond for him.

Fifteen minutes after he was released, Scott County Prosecuting Attorney Fielding Potashnick called Deputy Sheriff Jack Stewart and told him that the Oran bank had called and told him that Betty Winfield had just cashed $500 in forged checks on which the name of "Roger Allen" appeared as signer.

Stewart charged that Alfred Winfield had signed the checks, Winfield had been employed by Roger at East Prairie.

Scott County authorities arrested the couple on charges of forgery at Morley, and brought them back to Benton.

Winfield ran away on the way to jail. Stewart fired a gun into the air and Winfield fell on the ground.

He was then placed in jail and a $5,000 bond was set for him.

His wife has a $500 bond set for her.

Air Strikes At Ashau

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers roared over the ruins of the Ashau Special Forces camp today in the second day of air strikes against the North Vietnamese regiment that overran the isolated outpost on the Laotian border.

The jets ran into "the heaviest antiaircraft fire" ever experienced in South Viet Nam, but they destroyed one building, knocked out five mortar positions and apparently neutralized the Red air defenses around the camp, a U.S. spokesman said.

The U.S. Command did not report any losses of planes. In the desperate effort to save the camp with air support last week, six American aircraft were lost to the Communist gunners who set up 50-caliber machine guns in the jungled hills around Ashau.

The Viet Cong shot down a single-engine U.S. Army L19 spotter plane on a reconnaissance flight this morning 40 miles northeast of Saigon. The pilot was injured and rescued. His observer was killed.

U. S. pilots flew 42 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday, despite an overcast, the spokesman said.

Four Teenage Girls Hurt As Car Leaves Highway

Four Sikeston teenage girls were injured Sunday at 4 p.m., on highway 62, east of Miner, when their 1964 Chrysler, failed to stop at a T intersection, ran across the highway, and into a field. All were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Belinda Smith, 16, received cuts on her face and had teeth knocked out; Gail Purdy, 16, cuts on her face and mouth injuries; Becky Stallings, 15, cuts on her face and teeth knocked out; and Diane Chism, 15, back and mouth injury.

Sunday at 12:30 a.m. on highway 61, three and one-half miles south of Sikeston, a two-car collision resulted when a 1957 Rambler, driven by Elmer Smith, 56, Malden, sideswiped a 1960 Chevrolet, driven by Melvin Davis, 57, Matthews.

Smith was driving in the wrong lane when he struck the Davis car. Neither driver was injured. Smith was arrested for driving while being intoxicated, the state patrol reported.

Three traffic accidents occurred Saturday in the Sikeston area on wet pavement, following a heavy rain.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The rendezvous and space walk flight of the Gemini 8 astronauts was postponed today for 24 hours — until Wednesday — when leaks were discovered in an Atlas rocket and in a spacesuit circuit of the spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the trouble was discovered during checks that were to precede the final countdown.

The astronauts, Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott, will use the extra time to further review their flight plan, the space agency reported.

They had been reported confident as the launch date neared for their historic trip.

The Atlas is to launch an Agena satellite into space as a target for the astronauts to chase and hitch on to.

The Atlas trouble cropped up when fuel was discovered in a pressurization line that runs parallel to a fuel line. The launch crew had to disassemble several parts before locating the leak in a gasket. It was repaired and officials said they should be ready for a Wednesday launch.

The spacecraft leak was in a space suit circuit which is to separate moisture from recirculated cabin air during the three-day flight.

The space agency said technicians expected to have the problems solved in time for a Wednesday launching.

The launch times for the tricky space doubleheader will remain the same on Wednesday. The Atlas-Agena is to blast off at 9 a.m. to propel the 26-foot long Agena into a planned 185-mile - high orbit around the earth.

Irish Army Fools Up Blow Up

DUBLIN AP -- The Irish army blew up the remnant of Dublin's Nelson Monument today and in the process broke windows all around.

The plan called for the rest of the column to topple more or less in one piece into an open space. Instead it disintegrated, peppering the area with fragments.

The outworn Irish Republican Army is generally thought responsible for the explosion last Tuesday which brought down the 20-foot statue of Lord Nelson and the top 40 to 60 feet of the 114-foot column which supported him.

China Irks Castro

HAVANA AP -- Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today Cuba is prepared for a break in diplomatic relations with Communist China, which he accused of "launching an imperialist-type campaign against Cuba."

He also denied rumors of growing internal opposition to his Communist government.

In an angry 4 1/2-hour speech, Castro said Peking apparently was trying to provoke a break in relations by carrying out a "new campaign of calumny" and continuing its "economic aggressions" against his country.

Castro said he was considering limiting the number of Chinese officials in Cuba as a result of a Chinese request to take out of the country trucks, cars and other large equipment belonging to Peking's representatives in Cuba.

The deterioration in relations between Havana and Peking became known Jan. 2 when Castro accused China of reneging on an agreement to supply Cuba with 250,000 tons of rice this year. Peking said he was lying.

Stars Snub Royal Show

LONDON (AP) — Charlie Chaplin, Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando turned down invitations to tonight's royal film show, where the stars meet Queen Elizabeth II.

Vivian Cox, organizer of the royal performance, said "I don't regard this as a snub to the queen." But the cancellations from Brando and Miss Loren at the last minute were described by one of the promoters as "a cloud of embarrassment."

Invitations to the annual royal show for charity always have been prized by stage and film stars.

Chaplin, 76, who is producing and directing "A Countess from Hong Kong," his first movie in 10 years in London, said he was "honored and thrilled" to be asked to be master of ceremonies at the stage presentation of the royal film show. McClellan Will Seek Fifth Term

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. AP -- Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., will seek his fifth term in Congress.

McClellan, 70, said in Little Rock Sunday night that, as far as he knew, his health was good and that he was ready if necessary to "make an active and aggressive campaign."

McClellan's decision drew no comment from Gov. Orval Faubus, who returned Sunday from Washington and a conference on antipoverty programs. There has been speculation that Faubus might seek a Senate seat this year instead of a seventh term as governor.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Monday, March 14, 1828, Keeg's Rill, England; Beardsley Mart-Widdens becomes a water baby.

Federalization of the unemployment insurance system would become the greatest incentive for loafing ever devised.

That appears to be the sentiment of the nation's independent business proprietors on the bill now before the Congress, known as H. R. 8282, sponsored by Rep. Wilbur Mills, Ark. In a nationwide vote conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, 89 per cent opposed this legislation, 9 per cent are in favor, with 2 per cent undecided.

In Missouri the vote is 5 per cent for, 95 per cent opposed.

The measure which would require states to pay unemployment compensation at higher levels for a maximum period of 26 weeks would also provide that at the end of 26 weeks, the Federal government would continue compensation for another 26 weeks. Employment for only 20 weeks would entitle beneficiaries to draw checks for a full year.

Anyone who arbitrarily quits a job, or is fired for misconduct could draw benefits, and also refuse to take any suitable work offered during the period that benefits are being paid.

The system would be financed by increasing the tax on employers and also increasing the amount of wages on which the employer would pay that tax to $6,600. In most states this would result in doubling the unemployment tax which is paid by the employer only. The proposed law would also affect all employers even those with a single employee.

The strength of the opposition to this proposed legislation is not only measured by the high percentage of responses to the poll on the bill, but also from the unusual amount of spontaneous comments received in the offices of the Federation.

Commenting on the situation, C. Wilson Harder, Federation president says, "Our surveys on employment show already that it is difficult enough to get people to work in many states when pay rates for unskilled jobs must compete with tax free unemployment checks."

"The California harvest fiasco last season demonstrated that as long as there are tax free compensation checks available, the unemployed will not work for money on which the tax deductions are taken."

Proponents of the measure, principally labor union heads, claim this revamping of the unemployment insurance system is necessitated by the changing conditions brought about by increasing unemployment through automation.

Mr. Harder states that instead of government seeking to heap more welfare taxes onto the independent businessman, government should devote more energy to aiding small business to further expand and thus solve the unemployment problem.

The Colonel said: "Many a man's good fortune is due to the will power of a deceased relative."

GOV. HEARNES CALLS FOR ACTION THAT IS NEEDED

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes surprised yet pleased most Missourians when he asked last week that the General Assembly take up 20 or so important measures in its special session which began Monday. Most of the proposals need immediate attention--they could not wait. And the Governor is not one to dilly-dally.

The Governor's proposal of 20 some legislative measures, rather than an expected four or five, is another indication that he is making an unusually vigorous governor who is determined to accomplish great good for the people and without delay.

Of course, the budget--which admittedly is a big one but we do know Gov. Hearnes is sincerely trying to hold down mounting costs and increased taxes--had to be considered by the lawmakers. This is the primary purpose of the session. For the same special session the Governor wisely offered additional proposals that must be passed such as the regulation of billboards and junkyards. The state must effectively restrict signs and junkyards along all interstate and primary system highways--first of all, because of the sake of appearances; secondly, because Missouri could lose up to 20 per cent it receives annually in federal highway funds.

Just as important, the Governor's proclamation in part very wisely would authorize the Highway Commission to acquire, maintain and improve areas along the highways for the restoration, preservation and enhancement of scenic beauty. What a wonderful program! The legislators surely will pass this without delay. Most certainly the proponents would have the support of charming Lady Bird Johnson.

It makes sense that the prosecuting attorneys in St. Louis and Jackson counties should work full time at their jobs, rather than take on additional legal business. This is another of Gov. Hearnes' proposals. The Presidential disability amendment, another, has been ratified by 22 states and Missouri must do so without delay so the law can be incorporated in the constitution. Thirty-eight states must approve it.

On the basis of our understanding one of the more controversial issues facing the special session is the change being sought to permit parochial school students to attend one class or more a day in a public school. It has to do with the receipt of federal funds by the state and under the law programs must be offered to the parochial as well as the public school students. But a circuit court ruling (under Missouri law) says a child must attend either a public or parochial school for the entire school day. This makes no earthly sense to us and surely the legislators will call their good judgment to order and see that this issue is resolved.

Gov. Hearnes is on the soundest of ground when he foresees the possibility of need for a major state bond issue in the next year or two. Instead of going into it half cocked he asks the Legislature to authorize a study committee to determine precisely if it is needed, how large it should be and what projects should be included.

Other proposals the Governor is asking for at this special session have much merit. Gov. Hearnes' vigor, his experience, his imagination that results in creating new life and strength in Missouri are among his admirable qualities.

Certainly his first years in office will be memorable ones. And he is more than making good on all he said he would in the primary and general elections. He deserves the support of the Legislature and of the people.

NOT SO RUGGED NOW

There seems to be some doubt as to just when the observance of the Lenten fast began, but it has been traced back more than 1,600 years and prevailed in different forms among different peoples at various times. Its duration has varied from 40 hours (from Good Friday afternoon until Easter morning), when the devout ate nothing whatever, to seven weeks.

The present 40-day fast was established early in the seventh century, or about nine hundred years before the Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth Rock. This is quite a long time by any standard of measurement, and since there were no cans of Maine sardines on anyone's shelves in all that time, Lent must have seemed very long indeed. Even the American Indians, who developed the art of catching these little fishes to a high degree of efficiency never got around to putting them in cans. But, of course, the Indians only did their fasting when food was scarce.

Thus, it was a long time before the Pilgrims could get the local sardines -- which are really little herrings -- in cans. But, while they had to get along without this convenience and the variety -- choice of oil, mustard or tomato sauce -- they could observe the most rigid rules of Lent and still maintain the energy to hew the wilderness. It's a pity, of course, that they couldn't have known there was about 96 calories per ounce, that they are composed entirely of polyunsaturated fat (arachidonic acid) and high nutrition protein with thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, pyridoxine and all the B-complex vitamins. It would have been a satisfaction to know, too, that there's enough fluorine to help preserve the teeth for the day they can really be used again!

All this, however, is part of the penalty of being born too soon. And that is something none of us can properly complain of.

By GODFREY ANDERSON
LIMERICK, Ireland AP--"I don't budget at all. I just manage. And things are not too bad at all."

Eileen O'Connell, 38, mother of Ireland's first surviving quads in living memory, was explaining how she kept a household of 13 on roughly 10 pounds--$28 a week.

Mrs. O'Connell lives with her husband, James O'Connell, 40, a laborer, at Marian Terrace, Pallasgreen, 16 miles outside Limerick.

As you enter the door of their single-story house you are confronted by a colored pastel picture of Jesus and the gold-lettered words "God Bless Our Home."

The O'Connells count as blessings a family of 11, including the quads. Elizabeth, 16, helps her mother run the home. Patrick and William, the twins, are 15. Then there are Matthew, 14; Thomas, 10; Pascal, 9; Bridget, 4--and the quads, two boys and two girls who celebrated their first birthday Jan. 23. They are Gerard Michael, Paul John, Catherine May and Margaret Ann.

The quads were born prematurely in the regional maternity hospital at Limerick.

"Nobody took much notice of us," she says. "Except for the local people and they were very good. They had a collection and raised about $420. We put that aside for the children."

Mrs. O'Connell is helped by Elizabeth and by the district nurse, Anna Ryan, who drops in three times a day. But nurse Ryan stops her visits soon and then Mrs. O'Connell is on her own.

James O'Connell earns $24 a week when he's working. The twins--William works in the village garage and Patrick at the post office--give Mrs. O'Connell about $3 a week from their earnings. The other children still are at school. Mrs. O'Connell says she gets $47.60 monthly in state and family allowances. The County Council - owned house, for which rental is $5.60 a month, was enlarged at council expense to make a home for the quads. Two more rooms and a small second kitchen were added, providing five rooms for the family of 13. At the same time, hot water was provided--a rare luxury in the west of Ireland--and electric radiators, which O'Connell says they can't really afford to run. A commercial firm keeps the quads supplied with baby food, but Mrs. O'Connell considers the best present of all was the first she had--another firm's present of a washing machine. The quads' mother starts her day about 6:30 a.m. First there are the babies. Matthew, Thomas and Pascal must be got off to school by 8:30. Then it's time to get the twins away for their jobs in the village. She's seldom through before 9 p.m.

Mrs. O'Connell doesn't complain and says she manages very well, but Alderman Steve Coughlan of Limerick is seeking special state aid in the Dublin Daal for cases of multiple birth. The government promised to consider the matter. That was nearly a year ago. Nothing has been heard.

"It is disgraceful," says Coughlan, "that in a case such as this nothing is done for the welfare of the children or the parents."

INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING AWARDS PRESENTATION DINNER. Purpose: "To honor the world's best radio and television commercials produced and broadcast during the preceding year." Sponsor: Hollywood Advertising Club, Lucille Liets, Managing Director, 6362 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

The United States is joining other cooperators in the Food and Agriculture Organization of the U. N. in observing International Rice Year during 1966. It's purpose is to focus attention on the importance of rice to the world's economy and nutrition, and to stimulate further progress in rice culture.

Collections are a serious problem for a substantial share of the independent business proprietors.

This is being revealed in the first reports from the new 1966 continuous field survey being conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business.

Of the first respondents, approximately 5,000, 30 per cent of all report collections are currently a serious problem. However, of the 36 per cent that report they have expanded since a year previously, 54 per cent report collections are a problem.

The extent of this problem is probably also emphasized by the number who discount, or borrow on their accounts receivable.

Of all respondents, 30 per cent report that they get financing on their accounts receivable, while 32 per cent of those who have expanded in the past twelve months get financing on the accounts.

STYLE - AU NATURELLE

Maybe you think stretch pants are for girls - especially some girls. We think so, too. But also, and men--and have stretch jackets to go with them. You can get suits, we are told, that stretch north and south, or east and west or both ways.

What for? Suppose you've been to Aunt Kate's for Thanksgiving. Or perhaps your doctor has put you on a diet, and you're losing ten pounds a week. Or there's a growing boy in the family. Do you want to buy a new suit every month? Or let's say you are all dressed up in your Sunday suit (old-fashioned rigid type) and on your way to explain to the board of directors why they would be smart to give you a raise. A shoe-lace comes untied. You plant your foot on a tall fire hydrant and bend over. There is a small but unnerving sound. You feel a draft. Stuffing is also coming out of your jacket where the sleeves used to be sewed on.

You'd like to have a stretch suit, wouldn't you? A well-known doctor has pointed out that the most comfortable thing we can wear is our skin. And until the UN came along, it was a popular uniform in a lot of places. But now there are laws practically everywhere requiring the epidemic to be covered up - at least here and there. This may explain why stretch fabrics were invented. Certainly, they are the next best thing - and even more comfortable in the winter time.

This springy new cloth, according to the geniuses who invented it, first appeared in sports clothes and was especially popular for skiing. But people are finding out that commuting, organizing a lunch tray in a cafeteria, attending a bargain sale or a buffet dinner, parking a big car in a small space, getting things off the top shelf - or the bottom shelf - may well involve a greater need for stretch clothes than the Christiansia, the Telemark, a Slalom race - or a spill at the top of the run.

But, most startling of all, if you ask us, is the prospect that it's going to be fashionable to be comfortable!

TAKING AWAY THE VOTE

The Heritage, Missouri, Index recently answered its own question as to what is an economic election by saying, "... this kind of election takes place each time one of us buys something. The dollars we spend are really 'votes' in favor of certain products and services that we prefer over others."

Many political leaders seem wholly unfamiliar with the competitive nature of business in its struggle to win the favor of the consumer. As the Index says, the consumer is in the enviable position of being boss. Regardless of this fact the government is creating new bureaus to control business--at both the production and retail levels--on behalf of the consumer. A Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs has been appointed, a "truth in packaging" bill has been introduced, and a Committee on Consumer Interests has been formed.

The Index says, "Now, all this talk about government 'protecting' consumers sounds good, but it only results in interposing the heavy hand of government between producers and us consumers."

It looks like Washington is attempting to replace economic elections, determined by the consumer's choice in the market place, with politics. As a consequence, instead of the businessman changing his product to meet consumer wishes, government bureaucrats would be in a position to dictate what the producer could offer and what the consumer could buy.

THE FRIENDS OF THE LITTLE MAN

One of the primary causes of the rapid advance of socialism and big government all over the world has been the tremendous popularity and success of a pretended concern for "the little man." Everywhere, the enemies of freedom have posed as friends of "the little man" and his champions against "vested interests" of all kinds.

The fact that these so-called "friends of the little man" actually care nothing for ordinary people, and as members of a pseudo-intellectual elite do not even understand ordinary people, has not hampered the success of their alleged concern for "the little man" as a slogan and an idea. On the surface there is something very appealing in the thought of a noble, self-sacrificing group eager to champion the downtrodden, although the image bears little resemblance to reality.

It was through this same vague idealistic appeal that some of history's most tyrannical and absolute rulers assumed the image of "Protector of the Poor."

The man or group seeking power over men through government, cannot be truly justified by claiming a purpose of helping others. The end does not justify the means, and these means do not actually lead to the alleged end. Government power is and always has been an end in itself to most of those who seek it. When unlimited it is the worst of all threats to ordinary people.

What the poor and downtrodden really need is not mighty bureaucracies erected in their name, but a full opportunity and full freedom to build a better life for themselves. The true friends of "the little man" are those who want him to have full freedom and opportunity. HLF

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Rockefeller Pushing Johnson

In Bid For Big Labor Vote. New York: -- On the political poker table it's a 15 to 50 cent-limit game. But the real stakes involve billions of dollars annually and the political fortunes of Messrs. Johnson, Humphrey, Rockefeller and, most of all, Robert Kennedy.

In this game some of the players keep raising the ante and each other because it involves new standards for minimum wages.

The still is great pressure on President Johnson behind the scenes to raise the minimum to $60 for a 40-hour week immediately and $70 next year. It is now $50 a week. The President wants to boost it but not as much as the labor and liberal leaders seek.

The problem has so much political dynamite in it that he's spending as much time on it as on anything except the war.

Regularly he shoots off notes to the Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Gardner Ackley, whom the labor leaders rank slightly behind Sen. Dirksen on their hate list.

However, the President asks not for advice. He asks for information.

For example: What would happen if we raise the minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.40 now; or $1.50 two months from now or $1.60 next April? Suppose we break it up in nickel advances? Suppose we do it in one jump? What's the impact on inflation? What of industry? What of jobs in the South?

The Council gives him its most deliberate thinking. The analyses are hurried back to the White House. Soon come more queries. But no report on the upcoming decision.

He is playing it close on his vest. He, personally, will make the decision fully aware that an increased minimum wage is the issue -- and no 14-B repeal -- on which his friendship with some influential labor chiefs may get real ragged.

They want a $70-a-week minimum set by the federal government some time in 1967.

This is a big hike -- $20 weekly. But they feel that they should have had a minimum wage increase across the land last year and were out of it by Congress.

The President prefers to go easier. To get the $70-a-week he would have to battle Congress. He would have a fight even on a $60-a-week proposal. But his strategy is being complicated by Nelson Rockefeller. As predicted last month by this columnist, the New York Governor has delivered to his newly won labor friends by backing a state minimum wage hike to $60 weekly. This is a quarter-an-hour more than the federal rate.

Mr. Johnson has no inclination to permit the Republican leader to outdistance the federal government's liberalism. The President reportedly has grinned wryly over Mr. Rockefeller's maneuver.

This is an election year for the Governor. A big minimum pay hike means a big pile of votes.

If the federal government matches New York now, tens of millions of low-income workers will long have forgotten their escalated pay minimums by 1968 -- the year of the Presidential election during which Gov. Rockefeller hopes to be a candidate.

All of which leads to Robert Kennedy.

All presidents as candidates worry about carrying New York State. I can vouch for that even with Franklin D. Roosevelt, who expressed such anxiety during my first interview with him as a kid reporter in '44.

Mr. Johnson, surveying the State, has noted that the powerful vote - getting New York labor leaders have swung to Mr. Rockefeller because Senator Kennedy appears to have isolated himself from them. This could hurt the Democrats in the falls of '66 and '68.

When, for example, the labor leaders were planning a mass demonstration and parade in support of the minimum wage increase to $1.50-an-hour in fear that Gov. Rockefeller would veto the bill as he did last time, someone suggested Sen. Kennedy as a speaker. There was a cold reception. No hostility. Just no empathy.

One nationally prominent labor leader said they rejected Kennedy's name because "we don't figure Bobby, we don't feel him, there is no presence, he just doesn't come around or call. (Sen. Jack) Javits does. He has really been in this fight for what we want most. And most of us haven't heard from him."

These are Democratic labor leaders. But they'll swing to the other party this year.

This will give Rockefeller the votes for the blast-off he needs for '68. There's lots of political fortune in dimes and quarters.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The deeper this column digs into the dealings of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the stronger is the smell of scandal.

This column has made a painstaking search, for example, into the financial records of his 1964 campaign. The senator from Connecticut must have raised at least $500,000 yet aides swear he couldn't have spent more than $130,000 on the campaign.

Money contributed to help pay his election expenses have been traced to his personal bank accounts. This column has evidence, for example, that Dodd used campaign money to pay off private debts, finance home improvements, and take care of other personal expenses.

His official report to the state of Connecticut, dated Dec. 3, 1964, claimed contributions of $167,497.67 and expenditures of $174,159.44. The collections were at least triple the amount reported, and the expenditures were padded.

The largest expenditure he reported was $110,000 which was supposed to have been paid to the Randall Advertising Agency for radio, television and newspaper advertising. Yet the actual budget submitted by Randall was only $101,306.31.

Though a few extras were added during the campaign, these were wiped out by economies. Indeed, the agency refunded $1,000 in its final accounting to Dodd.

The senator also reported two payments to University Press of Cambridge, Mass., totaling $10,200, for campaign printing. A company spokesman recalled that University Press had done absolutely no printing for Dodd in 1964. In fact, the company wrote off as a bad debt a printing bill left over from the senator's 1956 campaign.

PERSONAL TRAVEL

Dodd charged the entire $5,500 that he ran up on his American airline credit card in 1964 as a campaign expense. A breakdown reveals this included personal travel for himself and his family, including a Florida vacation trip.

One of the most puzzling entries was $1,105.22 that was supposed to have been paid to Western Union for campaign telegrams. The actual Western Union bill was one-tenth that amount, or $105.69.

Dodd also lists as campaign expense $697.50 paid to photographer Vincent Shields, who doesn't recall taking any campaign pictures. He was actually hired to photograph the Dodd's 30th wedding anniversary party.

A small $187.58 payment to Jersey Airways was also charged to the campaign. This was what it cost the senator to fly from the Democratic convention in Atlantic City to Westbury, R. I., the nearest airport to his North Stonington, Conn., home.

Because he had appeared on a pre-convention telecast for the Metromedia television stations, however, Metromedia reimbursed him for the flight. Metro-media check no. 13583 for $187.58, dated Oct. 10, 1964, was deposited in Dodd's personal account.

The senator even claimed a $57 expenditure for an electric heater for campaign headquarters. However, the $57 heater was installed, not at campaign headquarters, but in his North Stonington home.

POLITICAL SWIMMING AND SNACKS

The petty padding also included $579 to Schneider's for campaign "luncheons" and $221.75 to the congressional Country Club for "political meetings."

Schneider's is actually a liquor store where Dodd bought booze, and the bills from the Country Club show that the entire $221.75 was spent by Dodd's family for swimming and snacks.

It is at least an interesting coincidence that Dodd was able to throw a gala wedding party for his daughter, Martha, on Oct. 12, 1963. This came at a time that he was having difficulty raising $5,000 to meet a personal note.

It also came after contributions had started to roll in for Dodd Day, a fund-raising event held in Connecticut on Oct. 26, 1963. No less than Lyndon Johnson, then the Vice President, went to Connecticut on Dodd Day to help raise money for the senator's campaign.

Though desperately short of personal funds, Dodd suddenly came up with the money for an extravagant wedding -- complete with a pheasant and champagne breakfast, a full-chestra, and a wide-open bar at the fashionable Hartford club.

Mrs. Dodd explained to intimates that she had saved enough out of her grocery money to pay for the extravaganzas. There are other discrepancies in Dodd's financial records which should interest the Senate Ethics committee. This column has offered to turn over the evidence to the committee, but the committee, so far, has seemed more interested in finding out how this column obtained the damning documents. There was no such interest, incidentally, when Dodd's own investigators secured documents from state department files.

The Ethics committee was established as an outgrowth of the Bobby Baker scandal, to protect the senate's good name. Its chairman is John Stennis, D-Miss., and the other members are Mike Monroney, Okla., Eugene McCarthy, Minn., Democrats; with Wallace Bennett, Utah, John Sherman Cooper, Ky., and James Pearson, Kans., Republicans.

This time the man under criticism is no mere senate aide who can be investigated without implicating senators, but a member of the inner circle. Under these painful circumstances, it will be interesting to see how the Senate Ethics committee handles the Dodd investigation.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Monday, March 14, 1828, Keeg's Rill, England: Beardsley Mart-Widdens becomes a water baby.

Federalization of the unemployment insurance system would become the greatest incentive for loafing ever devised.

That appears to be the sentiment of the nation's independent business proprietors on the bill now before the Congress, known as H. R. 8282, sponsored by Rep. Wilbur Mills, Ark. In a nationwide vote conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, 89 per cent opposed this legislation, 9 per cent are in favor, with 2 per cent undecided.

In Missouri the vote is 5 per cent for, 95 per cent opposed.

The measure which would require states to pay unemployment compensation at higher levels for a maximum period of 26 weeks would also provide that at the end of 26 weeks, the Federal government would continue compensation for another 26 weeks. Employment for only 20 weeks would entitle beneficiaries to draw checks for a full year.

Anyone who arbitrarily quits a job, or is fired for misconduct could draw benefits, and also refuse to take any suitable work offered during the period that benefits are being paid.

The system would be financed by increasing the tax on employers and also increasing the amount of wages on which the employer would pay that tax to $6,600. In most states this would result in doubling the unemployment tax which is paid by the employer only. The proposed law would also affect all employers even those with a single employee.

The strength of the opposition to this proposed legislation is not only measured by the high percentage of responses to the poll on the bill, but also from the unusual amount of spontaneous comments received in the offices of the Federation.

Commenting on the situation, C. Wilson Harder, Federation president says, "Our surveys on employment show already that it is difficult enough to get people to work in many states when pay rates for unskilled jobs must compete with tax free unemployment checks.

"The California harvest fiasco last season demonstrated that as long as there are tax free compensation checks available, the unemployed will not work for money on which the tax deductions are taken."

Proponents of the measure, principally labor union heads, claim this revamping of the unemployment insurance system is necessitated by the changing conditions brought about by increasing unemployment through automation.

Mr. Harder states that instead of government seeking to heap more welfare taxes onto the independent businessman, government should devote more energy to aiding small business to further expand and thus solve the unemployment problem.

The Colonel said: "Many a man's good fortune is due to the will power of a deceased relative."

GOV. HEARNES CALLS FOR ACTION THAT IS NEEDED

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes surprised yet pleased most Missourians when he asked last week that the General Assembly take up 20 or so important measures in its special session which began Monday. Most of the proposals need immediate attention--they could not wait. And the Governor is not one to dilly-dally.

The Governor's proposal of 20 some legislative measures, rather than an expected four or five, is another indication that he is making an unusually vigorous governor who is determined to accomplish great good for the people and without delay.

Of course, the budget--which admittedly is a big one but we do know Gov. Hearnes is sincerely trying to hold down mounting costs and increased taxes--had to be considered by the lawmakers. This is the primary purpose of the session. For the same special session the Governor wisely offered additional proposals that must be passed such as the regulation of billboards and junkyards. The state must effectively restrict signs and junkyards along all interstate and primary system highways--first of all, because of the sake of appearances; secondly, because Missouri could lose up to 20 per cent it receives annually in federal highway funds.

Just as important, the Governor's proclamation in part very wisely would authorize the Highway Commission to acquire, maintain and improve areas along the highways for the restoration, preservation and enhancement of scenic beauty. What a wonderful program! The legislators surely will pass this without delay. Most certainly the proponents would have the support of charming Lady Bird Johnson.

It makes sense that the prosecuting attorneys in St. Louis and Jackson counties should work full time at their jobs, rather than take on additional legal business. This is another of Gov. Hearnes' proposals. The Presidential disability amendment, another, has been ratified by 22 states and Missouri must do so without delay so the law can be incorporated in the constitution. Thirty-eight states must approve it.

On the basis of our understanding one of the more controversial issues facing the special session is the change being sought to permit parochial school students to attend one class or more a day in a public school. It has to do with the receipt of federal funds by the state and under the law programs must be offered to the parochial as well as the public school students. But a circuit court ruling (under Missouri law) says a child must attend either a public or parochial school for the entire school day. This makes no earthly sense to us and surely the legislators will call their good judgment to order and see that this issue is resolved.

Gov. Hearnes is on the soundest of ground when he foresees the possibility of need for a major state bond issue in the next year or two. Instead of going into it half cocked he asks the Legislature to authorize a study committee to determine precisely if it is needed, how large it should be and what projects should be included.

Other proposals the Governor is asking for at this special session have much merit. Gov. Hearnes' vigor, his experience, his imagination that results in creating new life and strength in Missouri are among his admirable qualities.

Certainly his first years in office will be memorable ones. And he is more than making good on all he said he would in the primary and general elections. He deserves the support of the Legislature and of the people.

The American Medical Association says that the level of immunity against smallpox in this country has been shrinking steadily for years as more and more people neglect to get boosters. Health authorities estimate that at least three fourths of the population is inadequately protected against this disease.

NOT SO RUGGED NOW

There seems to be some doubt as to just when the observance of the Lenten fast began, but it has been traced back more than 1,600 years and prevailed in different forms among different peoples at various times. Its duration has varied from 40 hours (from Good Friday afternoon until Easter morning), when the devout ate nothing whatever, to seven weeks.

The present 40-day fast was established early in the seventh century, or about nine hundred years before the Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth Rock. This is quite a long time by any standard of measurement, and since there were no cans of Maine sardines on anyone's shelves in all that time, Lent must have seemed very long indeed. Even the American Indians, who developed the art of catching these little fishes to a high degree of efficiency never got around to putting them in cans. But, of course, the Indians only did their fasting when food was scarce.

Thus, it was a long time before the Pilgrims could get the local sardines -- which are really little herrings -- in cans. But, while they had to get along without this convenience and the variety -- choice of oil, mustard or tomato sauce -- they could observe the most rigid rules of Lent and still maintain the energy to hew the wilderness. It's a pity, of course, that they couldn't have known there was about 96 calories per ounce, that they are composed entirely of polyunsaturated fat (arachidonic acid) and high nutrition protein with thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, pyridoxine and all the B-complex vitamins. It would have been a satisfaction to know, too, that there's enough fluorine to help preserve the teeth for the day they can really be used again!

All this, however, is part of the penalty of being born too soon. And that is something none of us can properly complain of.

LIMERICK, Ireland AP--"I don't budget at all. I just manage. And things are not too bad at all."

Eileen O'Connell, 38, mother of Ireland's first surviving quads in living memory, was explaining how she kept a household of 13 on roughly 10 pounds--$28 a week.

Mrs. O'Connell lives with her husband, James O'Connell, 40, a laborer, at Marian Terrace, Pallasgreen, 16 miles outside Limerick.

As you enter the door of their single-story house you are confronted by a colored pastel picture of Jesus and the gold-lettered words "God Bless Our Home."

The O'Connells count as blessings a family of 11, including the quads. Elizabeth, 16, helps her mother run the home. Patrick and William, the twins, are 15. Then there are Matthew, 14; Thomas, 10; Pascal, 9; Bridget, 4--and the quads, two boys and two girls who celebrated their first birthday Jan. 23. They are Gerard Michael, Paul John, Catherine May and Margaret Ann.

The quads were born prematurely in the regional maternity hospital at Limerick.

"Nobody took much notice of us," she says. "Except for the local people and they were very good. They had a collection and raised about $420. We've put that aside for the children."

Mrs. O'Connell is helped by Elizabeth and by the district nurse, Anna Ryan, who drops in three times a day. But nurse Ryan stops her visits soon and then Mrs. O'Connell is on her own.

James O'Connell earns $24 a week when he's working. The twins--William works in the village garage and Patrick at the post office--give Mrs. O'Connell about $3 a week from their earnings. The other children still are at school.

Mrs. O'Connell says she gets $47.60 monthly in state and family allowances.

The County Council-owned house, for which rental is $5.60 a month, was enlarged at council expense to make a home for the quads. Two more rooms and a small second kitchen were added, providing five rooms for the family of 13. At the same time, hot water was provided--a rare luxury in the west of Ireland--and electric radiators, which O'Connell says they can't really afford to run.

A commercial firm keeps the quads supplied with baby food, but Mrs. O'Connell considers the best present of all was the first she had--another firm's present of a washing machine.

The quads' mother starts her day about 6:30 a.m. First there are the babies. Matthew, Thomas and Pascal must be got off to school by 8:30. Then it's time to get the twins away to their jobs in the village. She's seldom through before 9 p.m.

Mrs. O'Connell doesn't complain and says she manages very well, but Alderman Steve Coughlan of Limerick is seeking special state aid in the Dublin Dail for cases of multiple birth. The government promised to consider the matter. That was nearly a year ago. Nothing has since been heard.

"It is disgraceful," says Coughlan, "that in a case such as this nothing is done for the welfare of the children or the parents."

Collections are a serious problem for a substantial share of the independent business proprietors. This is being revealed in the first reports from the new 1966 continuous field survey being conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business.

Of the first respondents, approximately 5,000, 30 per cent of all, report collections are currently a serious problem. However, of the 36 per cent that report they have expanded since a year previously, 54 per cent report collections are a problem.

The extent of this problem is probably also emphasized by the number who discount, or borrow on their accounts receivable.

Of all respondents, 30 per cent report that they get financing on their accounts receivable, while 32 per cent of those who have expanded in the past twelve months get financing on the accounts.

Maybe you think stretch pants are for girls--especially some girls. We think so, too. But it seems they are for boys, also, and men--and have stretch jackets to go with them. You can get suits, we are told, that stretch north and south, or east and west or both ways. What for?

Suppose you've been to Aunt Kate's for Thanksgiving, or perhaps your doctor has put you on a diet, and you're losing ten pounds a week. Or there's a growing boy in the family. Do you want to buy a new suit every month? Or let's say you are all dressed up in your Sunday suit (old-fashioned rigid type) and on your way to explain to the board of directors why they would be smart to give you a raise. A shoe-lace comes untied. You plant your foot on a tall fire hydrant and bend over. There is a small but unnerving sound. You feel a draft. Stuffing is also coming out of your jacket where the sleeves used to be sewed on. You'd like to have a stretch suit, wouldn't you?

A well-known doctor has pointed out that the most comfortable thing we can wear is our skin. And until the UN came along, it was a popular uniform in a lot of places. But now there are laws practically everywhere requiring the epidermis to be covered up--at least here and there. This may explain why stretch fabrics were invented. TAKING AWAY THE VOTE

The Hermitage, Missouri, Index recently answered its own question as to what is an economic election by saying, "... this kind of election takes place each time one of us buys something. The dollars we spend are really 'votes' in favor of certain products and services that we prefer over others."

Many political leaders seem wholly unfamiliar with the competitive nature of business in its struggle to win the favor of the consumer. As the Index says, the consumer is in the enviable position of being boss. Regardless of this fact the government is creating new bureaus to control business--at both the production and retail levels--on behalf of the consumer. A Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs has been appointed, a "truth in packaging" bill has been introduced, and a Committee on Consumer Interests has been formed.

The Index says, "Now, all this talk about government 'protecting' consumers sounds good, but it only results in interposing the heavy hand of government between producers and consumers."

It looks like Washington is attempting to replace economic elections determined by the consumer's choice in the marketplace, with politics. As a consequence, instead of the businessman changing his product to meet consumer wishes, government bureaucrats would be in a position to dictate what the producer could offer and what the consumer could buy.

New York: -- On the political poker table it's a 15- to 50-cent limit game. But the real stakes involve billions of dollars annually and the political fortunes of Messrs. Johnson, Humphrey, Rockefeller and, most of all, Robert Kennedy.

In this game some of the players keep raising the ante and each other because it involves new standards for minimum wages.

There still is great pressure on President Johnson behind the scenes to raise the minimum to $60 for a 40-hour week immediately and $70 next year. It is now $50 a week. The President wants to boost it but not as much as the labor and liberal leaders seek.

The problem has so much political dynamite in it that he's spending as much time on it as on anything except the war.

Regularly he shoots off notes to the Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Gardner Ackley, whom the labor leaders rank slightly behind Sen. Dirksen on their hate list.

However, the President asks not for advice. He asks for information.

For example: What would happen if we raise the minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.40 now; or $1.50 two months from now or $1.60 next April? Suppose we break it up in nickel advances? Suppose we do it in one jump? What's the impact on inflation? What of industry? What of jobs in the South?

The Council gives him its most deliberate thinking. The analyses are hurried back to the White House. Soon come more queries. But no report on the upcoming decision.

He is playing it close on his vest. He, personally, will make the decision fully aware that an increased minimum wage is the issue -- and no 14-B repeal -- on which his friendship with some influential labor chiefs may get ragged.

They want a $70-a-week minimum set by the federal government some time in 1967.

This is a big hike -- $20 weekly. But they feel that they should have had a minimum wage increase across the land last year and were done out of it by Congress.

The President prefers to go easier. To get the $70-a-week he would have to battle Congress. He would have a fight even on a $60-a-week proposal. But his strategy is being compliated by Nelson Rockefeller.

As predicted last month by this columnist, the New York Governor has delivered to his newly won labor friends by backing a state minimum wage hike to $60 weekly. This is a quarter-an-hour more than the federal rate.

Mr. Johnson has no inclination to permit the Republican leader to outdistance the federal government's liberalism. The President reportedly has grinned wryly over Mr. Rockefeller's maneuver.

This is an election year for the Governor. A big minimum pay hike means a big pile of votes.

If the federal government matches New York now, the tens of millions of low-income workers will long have forgotten their escalated pay minimums by 1968 -- the year of the Presidential election during which Gov. Rockefeller hopes to be a candidate.

All of which leads to Robert Kennedy.

All presidents as candidates worry about carrying New York State. I can vouch for that even with Franklin D. Roosevelt, who expressed such anxiety during my first interview with him as a kid reporter in '44.

Mr. Johnson, surveying the State, has noted that the powerful vote -- getting New York labor leaders have swung to Mr. Rockefeller because Senator Kennedy appears to have isolated himself from them. This could hurt the Democrats in the falls of '66 and '68.

When, for example, the labor leaders were planning a mass demonstration and parade in support of the minimum wage increase to $1.50-an-hour in fear that Gov. Rockefeller would veto the bill as he did last time, someone suggested Sen. Kennedy as a speaker. There was a cold reception. No hostility. Just no empathy.

One nationally prominent labor leader said they rejected Kennedy's name because "we don't figure Bobby, we don't feel him, there is no presence, he just doesn't come around or call. (Sen. Jack) Javits does. He has really been in this fight for what we want most. And most of us haven't heard from him since."

These are Democratic labor leaders. But they'll swing to the other party this year.

This will give Rockefeller the votes for the blast-off he needs for '68. There's lots of political fortune in dimes and quarters.

Spring Training Baseball Results

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball's sluggers are beginning to find the range. Willie Mays hit his first home run of the spring Sunday. So did Boog Powell. And so did Choo Choo Coleman.

Choo Choo Coleman? Mays and Powell are acknowledged sluggers. Choo Choo Coleman is a New York Met. Or, at least he'd like to be a New York Met.

Choo Choo Coleman was a New York Met four years ago when the whole legend of baseball's best losers began. In fact, he played an important role in starting the Met saga. It was Choo Choo Coleman who hit the first New York Met home run and drove in the first New York Met runs way back in 1962.

It happened in a spring training game against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Sunday Coleman duplicated the feat as the Mets blanked the Cards 3-0.

"It was a Ruthian clout," enthused Wes Westrum, the only undefeated manager in Met history.

Westrum was giving Choo Choo the benefit of the doubt but he could afford to be generous after two straight exhibition victories.

"It's great to be with a winner," grinned Casey Stengel's successor.

Coleman is not on the Mets' roster but he's working out with New York and could win a job on the thin catching staff.

There's nothing he'd like better. The last time he was in the National League, the Mets were still playing their home games in the Polo Grounds.

Jack Fisher, Ron Nischwitz and Larry Bearnarth combined for the seven-hit shutout.

Mays, who led the major leagues with 52 homers last year, whipped a 400-foot shot off Cleveland's Lee Stange as the Giants downed the Indians 6-2.

San Francisco picked up four earned runs in the first inning against Indian ace Sam McDowell, who labored through two innings, throwing 56 pitches.

Powell, one of Baltimore's power men, slugged a two-run homer that helped the Orioles trim the New York Yankees 4-3. Baltimore got the winning run in the ninth inning on a triple by rookie Mike Epstein and catcher Camilo Carreon's single. Carreon was acquired by the Orioles from Cleveland Thursday.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox nipped Cincinnati 1-0; Houston won its fourth straight, downing Washington 4-3; Minnesota dropped its fourth straight, 2-1 to Detroit; Kansas City whipped Boston 8-4; the California Angels turned back the Chicago Cubs 3-2, and Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-2.

uable Player, hit 17 of 22 from the field and 7 of 8 from the free throw line enroute to a 41-point performance. In the second half, Tucker dropped in 11 of 12 from the field.

Another Baptist performer, R. B. Lynam, dumped 12 of 15 field goal attempts to score 25 points in the championship game. Lynam joined Tucker on the all-tournament team.

Tucker missed the rebounding title by two, ranking second to Richard Pitts of Norfolk who cleared 66. Both played in five games.

Ken Wilburn of Central State of Ohio, last year's Most Valuable Player, was third with 61 rebounds through three rounds.

Wilburn and two players from Georgia Southern completed the first team all-tournament squad: Bill Pickens, a 6-foot-9 senior, and Jimmy Rose, a 6-foot-2 junior.

Named to the second team were James Jones, Grambling, La.; Pat Caldwell, Rockhurst, Mo.; Jim Shuler, Carson-Newman, Tenn., and Essex Thompson and James Grant, both of Norfolk State.

Hawks Win, Beat Royals 115-106

BOSTON AP -- The Boston Celtics counted upon promised help from Baltimore today as the National Basketball Association's regular campaign entered its final week.

The Celtics, bidding for a 10th straight Eastern Division title and an eighth consecutive NBA championship, looked for outside help with a little disappointment Sunday, after clobbering the Baltimore Bullets 129-98 at the Boston Garden.

The victory enabled the Celtics to remain one game behind the Philadelphia 76ers, who rallied to edge the New York Knicks 115-113. Boston and Philadelphia each have three games left.

"We'll win our three against Detroit, New York and Cincinnati," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "And I'm going to go out on the limb and predict that Baltimore, at home, will beat the 76ers in their final game next Sunday."

Coach Paul Seymour of the Bullets gave the Celtics a vote of confidence, promising that his team will beat Philadelphia.

"I'm not interested in how Boston or Philadelphia fares," Seymour said. "We're in a struggle with St. Louis for second place in the Western Division and couldn't care less at this point about the East. However, I'll say one thing -- we'll win that game with the 76ers next Sunday."

Joe Caldwell's 14-point spree inside five minutes in the third quarter paced St. Louis to a 115-96 victory over Cincinnati, leaving the Hawks one game ahead of fourth-place San Francisco and two behind second-place Baltimore in the Western Division scramble for playoff positions.

San Francisco edged Detroit 121-119 behind the playmaking and 24-point effort of Guy Rodgers in Sunday's other game.

Few Big Innings In Baseball Suit

MILWAUKEE AP -- Wisconsin continued pecking away at baseball's decision to shift the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta as the state's antitrust suit against the game entered its third week of trial today.

The state is expected to put only two or three more witnesses on the stand before ending its presentation of evidence in the case against the Braves and the National League.

The defense presentation could begin by midweek.

So far, there have been few big innings in the case as Wisconsin slowly tried to prove that baseball had no sound legal reason for abandoning Milwaukee after 13 seasons.

Much of the testimony had already been given in weeks of pretrial depositions.

Witnesses last week told of efforts by civic and political leaders to persuade the Braves' owners to keep the team in Milwaukee.

Wisconsin must prove that baseball monopolistically conspired to deprive Milwaukee of a team.

A decision by Circuit Judge Elmer Roller is not expected until at least 10 days after the trial ends, Wisconsin, which is seeking a court order forcing either expansion or the return of the Braves, is hoping for a decision before the opening of the baseball season.

The Braves are scheduled to open in Atlanta April 12.

Thieves Loot NBA Locker Room

IOWA CITY, IOWA (AP)--The Western Kentucky locker room was robbed of between $600 and $700 in money, rings and watches during its consolation final game with Dayton in the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball tournament Saturday night.

Police said the thieves somehow got into the locker room even though it was guarded by campus and auxiliary police.

The loss was discovered when the Western Kentucky players returned to the dressing room after defeating Dayton, 82-68 for third place.

Q—Kentucky's injuries were mostly bumps and bruises, Utah has more serious worries. Starter Lyndon MacKay pulled a knee tendon in the regional title game against Oregon State and is a doubtful starter. Utah lost George Fisher two weeks ago with a broken leg.

Kansas Coach Ted Owens still was fuming about the officiating in his losing effort against Texas as Western, but admitted that he "would have to label Texas Western one of the best ball clubs around if you get a loosely called game."

His chief complaint was a call on Jo Jo White with one second left in the first overtime. White had just dropped in a 25-footer for the apparent winner, but an official ruled White had stepped out of bounds. The game went to a second overtime and TWC took it.

In other major weekend action, Villanova eliminated St. John's, N.Y., 63-61, Boston College upset Louisville 96-90 in three overtimes, Army upended Manhattan 71-66 and San Francisco whipped Penn State 89-77 in first-round games of the National Invention Tourney in New York.

Oklahoma Baptist won the NAIA title at Kansas City by beating Georgia Southern 88-59.

Spring Training Baseball Results

Baseball's sluggers are beginning to find the range. Willie Mays hit his first home run of the spring Sunday. So did Boog Powell. And so did Choo Choo Coleman.

Choo Choo Coleman?
Mays and Powell are acknowledged sluggers. Choo Choo Coleman is a New York Met. Or, at least he'd like to be a New York Met.

Choo Choo Coleman was a New York Met four years ago when the whole legend of baseball's best losers began. In fact, he played an important role in starting the Met saga. It was Choo Choo Coleman who hit the first New York Met home run and drove in the first New York Met run way back in 1962.

It happened in a spring training game against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Sunday Coleman duplicated the feat as the Mets blanked the Cards 3-0.

"It was a Ruthian clout," enthused Wes Westrum, the only undefeated manager in Met history.

Westrum was giving Choo Choo the benefit of the doubt but he could afford to be generous after two straight exhibition victories.

"It's great to be with a winner," grinned Casey Stengel's successor.

Coleman is not on the Mets' roster but he's working out with New York and could win a job on the thin catching staff. There's nothing he'd like better. The last time he was in the National League, the Mets were still playing their home games in the Polo Grounds.

Jack Fisher, Ron Nischwitz and Larry Bearmearth combined for the seven-hit shutout.

Mays, who led the major leagues with 52 homers last year, whipped a 400-foot shot off Cleveland's Lee Stange as the Giants downed the Indians 6-2.

San Francisco picked up two inept runs in the first inning against Indian ace Sam McDowell, who labored through two innings, throwing 56 pitches.

Powell, one of Baltimore's power men, slugged a two-run homer that helped the Orioles

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Basketball slugs have come to expect a great show whenever the NAIA 32-team cage festival comes to town. But this year, even the most optimistic fan was beside himself.

In nearly every game, the winning team hit better than 50 per cent of its shots from the field. In the championship contest, Oklahoma Baptist crushed Georgia Southern 88-59, hitting 59.7 per cent of its field goal attempts.

In the third place game Grambling, La., edged Norfolk, Va., State 111-110, and the Spartans from Virginia making their first appearance in the NAIA tournament, set four records.

Norfolk opened the six-day tourney by blasting Upper Iowa 132-97, breaking the one-game scoring mark of 131 set by Tennessee State, and their 110 point loss to Grambling is the most points ever scored by a loser.

The Virginia team also set an all-time tourney high for field goals with 216, and an all-time scoring record of 521 points, or 104.2 points per game average.

The fantastic shooting performance by the various teams also was reflected by individual players. In the title game, Oklahoma Baptist's Al Tucker, named the tourney's Most Val-

BOSTON AP -- The Boston Celtics counted upon promised help from Baltimore today as the National Basketball Association's regular campaign entered its final week.

The Celtics, bidding for a 10th straight Eastern Division title and an eighth consecutive NBA championship, looked for outside help with a little disappointment Sunday, after clobbering the Baltimore Bullets 129-98 at the Boston Garden.

The victory enabled the Celtics to remain one game behind the Philadelphia 76ers, who rallied to edge the New York Knicks 115-113. Boston and Philadelphia each have three games left.

"We'll win our three against Detroit, New York and Cincinnati," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "And I'm going to go on the limb and predict that Baltimore, at home, will beat the 76ers in their final game next Sunday."

Coach Paul Seymour of the Bullets gave the Celtics a vote of confidence, promising that his team will beat Philadelphia.

"I'm not interested in how Boston or Philadelphia fairs," Seymour said. "We're in a struggle with St. Louis for second place in the Western Division and couldn't care less at this point about the East. However, I'll say one thing -- we'll win that game with the 76ers next Sunday."

Joe Caldwell's 14-point spree inside five minutes in the third quarter paced St. Louis to a 115-196 victory over Cincinnati, leaving the Hawks one game ahead of fourth-place San Francisco and two behind second-place Baltimore in the Western Division scramble for playoff positions.

San Francisco edged Detroit, 121-119 behind the playmaking and 24-point effort of Guy Rodgers in Sunday's other game.

Clay Counted Out of WBA Ratings

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Cassius Clay, whose flitting fists and stinging tongue won him the world heavyweight boxing crown and later the disfavor of the World Boxing Association, has been counted out of the WBA rankings.

The WBA Executive Committee scratched Clay as No. 1 heavyweight contender Sunday and replaced him with Zora Foley, who agreed to fight for the title here May 16.

The World Boxing Association, which really doesn't cover all of the world, previously had stripped Clay of his title and had recognized Ernie Terrell as the champion. Foley had been rated second in the list of challengers.

Promoters Lou Messina of New Orleans said Foley had accepted an offer to fight Terrell for the title in City Park Stadium.

The match would be recognized as a world heavyweight championship fight, the WBA Executive Committee said.

Jim Deskin of Las Vegas, Nev., quoted Terrell as being "ready, willing and able to meet any suitable opponent that the WBA suggested."

Clay and Terrell had been scheduled to fight later this month in Chicago but the match was moved to one city after another when the Louisville Lip's comments on being drafted and the Viet Nam war reddened the ears of patriotic officials.

Terrell finally backed out of the fight, voicing dissatisfaction with contract terms.

When Clay and George Chuvalo agreed to meet in a title fight March 29 in Toronto, the WBA refused its sanction.

One reason given is that Terrell is the WBA champion—the whole point of the Clay-Terrell bout had been to give the world one heavyweight champ. Clay is recognized as champion in many parts of the world.

Also, the WBA said it did not feel that Chuvalo, who has lost two of his last three fights, was a suitable opponent for a title match.

The WBA urged an investigation of the Ontario Athletic Commission for its actions concerning the Clay-Chuvalo-Terrell matter.

Kentucky Beats Michigan, Move To Semi-Finals

It was supposed to be a building year at Kentucky.

They really didn't have much, coming off a 15-10 season, their poorest in many years. They were short on experience and hurting for height.

So they got into the semifinals of the NCAA national basketball championship with the nation's No. 1 ranking, the favorites' role and an unparalleled history of success.

"Nobody could have foreseen this," said Coach Adolph Rupp. "You could only dream about it."

"Naturally, we would have liked to have ended up undefeated, but 26-1 is a simply unbelievable record when you stop to think about it."

The Wildcats earned their spot in the NCAA semifinals at College Park, Md., this weekend when they turned back Big Ten champion Michigan 84-77 in the Midwest regional finals at Iowa City, Iowa, Saturday.

They'll next go against powerful Duke, ranked second in the nation and possessor of a 25-3 record, in one semifinal. The other matches Texas Western, No. 3 in the country and 26-1, against unranked Utah, 20-6.

Duke blew a 16-point lead but came back to take Syracuse 91-81 in the Eastern regional finals at Raleigh, N.C., Texas Western just edged Kansas 81-80 in double overtime at Lubbock, Tex., and Utah subdued Oregon State 70-74 at Los Angeles.

A crowd estimated at 20,000 by airport officials greeted Rupp's Runts when the Kentucky squad returned to Lexington, Ky., Sunday, then paraded the team through town.

What the Communists Are Saying About You

by Karl Baarslag

AMERICA'S VOICE OF SEDITION
Space limits prohibit a review of the "Get Out of Vietnam" line assiduously peddled in numerous periodicals of the Radical Left and official Communist press. Political Affairs, The Worker, Peoples World and others reflecting the official Moscow line all stress the importance and urgency of mobilizing all "progressive and democratic peace - loving forces" (read all those susceptible and accessible to Communist propaganda) to force the administration to stop all military action in Vietnam and to negotiate with Ho Chi-minh and the Viet Cong.

The Militant (Trotskyite), Hammer and Steel (Peking oriented), Progressive Labor (dissident Communist), Workers World (ultra left Communist), National Guardian, and minor radical papers are as one in stressing the dire urgency of "preventing the spread of nuclear war" by forcing the Johnson administration to stay its hand in Vietnam. SUMMARY: It is a most remarkable coincidence that "Teach-ins" all over the country, White House picketlines, Pentagon "Virgils", full page costly advertisements in the N. Y. Times signed by thousands of clergymen, "Peace Marches," and innumerable other anti-U.S. policy demonstrations "spontaneously" spring up just as Moscow and Peking issue their full mobilization orders as outlined above. Particularly so when no similar manifestations, not even tiny little ones, occurred when Russia drowned the Hungarian uprising in blood, Red China raped Tibet, Congolese savages butchered Christian missionaries, and Castro murdered innocent Cubans 125 miles from Miami. If only more American public opinion molders and Washington officials, Congressmen, clergymen and educators glanced at a few Communist directive-carrying publications once in a while, the whole obscene and fraudulent carnival staged by the Communists, secret pro-Communists, phony "liberals," professional agitators and bleeding hearts would soon be laughed into what McKinley once called "innocuous desuetude."

It seems rather easy to predict that the fall re-opening of universities and colleges will bring a vastly increased barrage of "teach-ins", rallies, "peace marches", demonstrations, White House picketlines, riots, and other capers all designed to pressure the administration into sounding retreat in Vietnam by some sort of negotiated "deal." Something called the Vietnam Day Committee just formed at the University of California, Berkeley, has already announced an "International Day of Protest" for October 15 and 16.

A mathematics professor at Berkeley, Stephen Smale, and spokesman for the Vietnam Day Committee, promised that civil disobedience would include "peace invasions" of the Army Terminal at Oakland, California, used as an embarkation point for U.S. troops. Where peaceniks are barred from restricted military areas, they may try small boats or dropping leaflets from planes or helicopters.

Pacifist and left - liberal clergymen are also planning to step up their anti-administration agitation. The N. Y. Times of August 30 carried a news item that the Fellowship of Reconciliation in collaboration with Robert Hutchins' Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, (formerly the Fund for the Republic) would organize over 100 "conferences" all over the United States and Canada beginning in October. These "conferences" would mobilize American clergymen "in support of peace."

"Peace" in this context would not involve getting Red China to end its war of genocide in Tibet, stop African terrorist invasions of the Congo or Angola, keep Sukarno's infiltrators out of Malaysia, or stop Viet Cong terror and atrocities against peaceful and unarmed South Vietnamese. "Peace" would be restricted to getting U.S. armed forces out of Vietnam so that the whole country would soon be overrun by the Communists.

Rumors persist in intelligence and well-informed Washington news circles that President Johnson is still desperately trying to work out a deal with Peking for some sort of face-saving "settlement" in Vietnam. The recent settlement in Santo Domingo, amounting to an almost total capitulation to the Communist - dominated rebels, after first making a brave show of "stopping Communism in the Caribbean," does not forebode well for South Vietnam.

We only hope that the strongest nation in what remains of the Free World doesn't embrace another Chamberlain - Munich umbrella appeasement deal with its tragic consequences.

Improvements in Bernie Schools

DEXTER -- Curricular, building and transportation system improvements have been added in the Bernie schools this year, according to school officials there.

This year counselor services have been extended to the junior high school and classes in motor mechanics and body and fender repair have been added. Improvements have been made in the business education department including changes in the Secretarial Practice class and the addition of several office machines. Numerous books and supplies have been added to the school library. The school has adopted the new modern mathematics program in all grades and will soon have the program completed in high school.

Under the new federal programs, teacher aides have been employed and equipment purchased for them. A remedial reading teacher has been added, and a program in physical education for elementary children has been started.

A school nurse began working in January, and additional facilities have been provided for her use. An additional seventh grade teacher has been added, also.

A material center is in the process of being set up in a new mobile classroom. An elementary library has been approved and will be in use before the end of this year.

There will be summer programs for certain pupils in Kindergarten remedial reading, remedial mathematics, library and elementary physical education.

Joanna Duncan In District Band

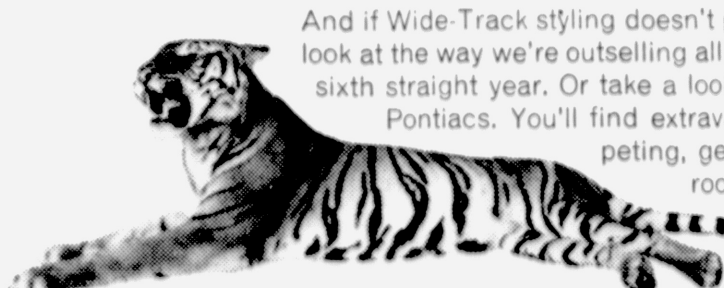

LILBOURN -- Joanna Duncan, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joa Duncan, has been selected to perform as a member of the district band which plays at the district teacher's meeting at Cape Girardeau Thursday.

She plays the trumpet and will join high school students from 20 counties in this band.

In addition to her performance as a member of the Lilbourn band, she participates in chorus, is a cheerleader, and is an honor student. She is junior class treasurer and vice president of the FHA chapter.

Dexter Council Votes Fast Time

DEXTER -- The city council has approved daylight saving time in Dexter beginning April 25 and ending Sept. 1.

A resolution for sale of the city's interest in the Armory for $30,000 was approved. A stipulation prevents sale until the city can find other quarters.

Payment was approved to Delta Asphalt, Inc., for $374.46 for the city's portion for the paving of King street.

W. L. Arnold presented bids received for the re-location of the well of Swift and Company near the south poultry house. Bids were opened and read by Mayor Melvin Gainer. The low bid by Clinton Wooldridge of Dexter was accepted and approved.

A report of the police judge for February amounted to $212.79.

Leon Appleby, representative of Duncan Parking Meter Company was present for a discussion concerning purchasing of additional parking meters.

The council approved the purchase of 115 new meters, bringing the total of new meter installations to 200. These meters will also be placed on a trial basis for four months before contract approval concerning price and terms of payment.

An ordinance was passed, dealing with providing an election April 5 to elect a mayor, city collector, marshal, police judge and one alderman in each of the three wards.

City Attorney Claude Arnold read the resolution describing the territory for annexation in the extension of the city limits.

An offer of Sonny Jenkins to prepare a parking lot on the site south of the Dexter pool room, providing the city cut the trees on alley edge, was accepted.

February disbursements in the amount of $63,519.34 was approved by the council before adjourning.

The contract was awarded the Jackson firm on a bid of $182,574.25, which was the lowest bid of several submitted.

It is expected work will begin on the project soon.

The medical insurance will cover 80 per cent of doctor bills and a variety of other health services over and above the first $50 of expenses in a year, supplementing the basic hospital insurance provided persons 65 and over under the medicare law.

According to figures released today by Paul J. Palmer, social security district manager in Cape Girardeau, 370,000 people, about 69 per cent of 540,000 persons 65 and over in the State of Missouri had enrolled in the voluntary medical insurance as of February 15. Only about 7 per cent had decided against enrolling and many of these are changing their minds, he said.

Still to be heard from were about, 134,000 Missouri residents, Palmer said. The percentage of Missouri residents who have elected to enroll is slightly below the national average -- 71 per cent on February 15 and 75 per cent as of March 1.

The enrollment period for persons who reached 65 before the beginning of this year closes on March 31, Palmer said. Those who fail to enroll by then will have to wait two years for another chance and pay higher premiums. The premium for those who enroll now is $3 a month, one-half the cost of the protection. The other half is met out of Federal revenues.

Persons 65 and over, whether or not they have ever worked under social security, are eligible for medicare protection, Palmer emphasized. Also, both hospital insurance and medical insurance benefits are payable whether or not they are retired, or continue to work.

The contract was awarded the Jackson firm on a bid of $182,574.25, which was the lowest bid of several submitted.

Dexter School Vote on April 5

DEXTER -- The school district annual school election will be held April 5 in the junior high gymnasium.

Candidates for the school board should file with the secretary of the board, Mrs. Marion Stoll, on or before March 18. The incumbents, Loren Coffey and Yewell Gene Lawrence, have refiled.

The voters will be asked to approve a tax rate of $1.55 on the $100 assessed valuation in addition to the $1.25 which the board can levy without voter approval.

These rates, along with the 85 cents for debt retirement purposes will make a total of $3.65 which will be the same as this year's rate. In other words, there will be no increase in the school tax rate.

STAGE DEBUT—Critics didn't go for it, but the audience was enthusiastic about the production of the Elizabethan classic "Dr. Faustus" at England's Oxford University which starred a bearded Richard Burton and marked the stage debut of Elizabeth Taylor. Her brief role as Helen of Troy had no lines but required receiving four kisses from her husband.

The Prayer

For Today From The Upper Room

Cast me not away from my presence; and take not the holy spirit from me. (Psalm 51:11)

PRAYER: Father, instill in us the attitude of genuine repentance. May our lives be turned toward Thee and our thoughts mastered by Thy presence. Through Jesus Christ our Redeemer. Amen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

Why I prefer the Daily Standard as my source of information for buying all my family needs.

I prefer the Daily Standard as my source of information because most of my shopping is done in the Sikeston area. I am familiar with the days that my favorite merchants run their ads, enabling me to schedule my week, so as to allow certain days for housework, marketing, etc.

ANN LANDERS

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I never wrote to an agony column in my life and I wouldn't be writing now except my wife says you are the only person whose word she will take.

Is it adultery if a married man has a few lunches and a couple of dinners during the week with an unmarried woman who works for him?

I want to make it plain that there is no funny stuff going on here. Our lunches and dinners are strictly business. We have never been any place together except to this restaurant which is near the office.

My wife says when a married man escorts a woman who is not his wife it is adultery and that you will back her up. Is she right?—BLACKIE

Dear Blackie: According to the dictionary adultery is defined as sexual intimacy between a married person and one who is not the spouse. If you have never taken this woman anywhere except to a restaurant it is a safe bet that no adultery is involved.

Even though you win (perhaps on a technicality?) I suggest that you cool it, Sport. A married man who has so many meals with an unmarried girl could eventually get himself included in the definition.

Dear Ann Landers: You have said repeatedly that you are shock-proof but I'll bet this problem is one you've never had before.

Our daughter is 14, attractive, popular, a good student, and has everything a girl could ask for, but she still sucks her thumb. I'm sure she doesn't realize I know, but I have seen her suck

BROWNIE TROOP No. 19 has put into action their promise to love God and their country by presenting toys, coloring books, crayons and little plastic books to the First Christian church nursery. They are also stressing that part of the promise to help other people every day, especially those at home, by making Brownie Promise Books which they presented to their mothers with a promise to help her in a very special way during Girl Scout Week. The first row from left is Lisa Cox, Joy Griffin, Sandra Marsh, Cynthia Britt, Sheryl Lemmons and Mrs. Jack Britt, leader. The second row from left are Carol Ann Collier, Debra Dame, Linda Young, Jo Ann Hill, Janice Teague and Glenda Richardson. The third row from left are Vickie Ahart, Cheryl Patterson, Darla Kay Jackson and Rebecca Williams. The back row from left are Jane Sue McCord, Lee Ann Yeargain, Mrs. Joe McCord, representing the Christian church, and Mrs. Kay Jackson, assistant leader.

her thumb while she is reading. Frequently when I look in on her at night I find her asleep with her thumb in her mouth. Should I tell her I know and attempt to shame her out of it?—X.L.V.

Dear X.L.V.: Thumb-sucking is a symptom of emotional insecurity. It is a mistake to try to shame children out of the habit at any age. Making fun of a child will only intensify his insecurity.

Give the girl more attention and more approval. Without realizing it you are probably too critical of her and she feels inadequate and picked on.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago my husband met a man who lived in another city but came through on business quite often. Whenever he asked us out to dinner my husband picked up the check because the big shot never had anything smaller than a $100 bill.

To make a long story short, my husband gave this man $12,000 for a half interest in a marble quarry. The man was supposed to send some papers which my husband was to take to his lawyer.

The papers never came and that was the last we saw of the man. His Baltimore address is phony and we are out $12,000—our life's savings.

I'm so furious I am considering a legal separation. My widowed mother has invited me to move into her home so she can care for our four children. I could get my old job back and be rid of this stupid jerk. Am I justified? My mother says I am.—JUST BURNING

Dear Burning: Isn't it enough that the crook bilked you out of your life's savings? Are you going to let him break up your home, too?

Stay where you are and give your husband the moral support that he needs. He's probably madder at himself than you are. "The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding.

To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35¢ in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Great opportunities come to all, but many do not know they have met them.

Bronze Star Given Hughes

BLOOMFIELD -- Spec. 4th Class Jesse Ray Hughes, who was killed in Viet Nam on October 5, 1965, was honored for the second time, posthumously, when his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Parker was presented on behalf of the president, the bronze star.

Hughes was killed in Viet Nam as a result of a hostile action, while he was on a search and destroy operation, when his unit was hit by hostile machine gun fire.

The bronze star is awarded for courageous action beyond the call of duty. When his unit was pinned down by heavy machine gun fire, unable to evacuate the wounded, Hughes fired at the enemy position in an effort to keep them from shooting the wounded, realizing that he had expelled all but 1 clip of bullets, Jesse advanced on the enemy machine gun bunker in hopes of overrunning their position. In his attempt to protect his fallen comrades, Jesse paid with his life.

Mrs. Parker had received the purple heart in his behalf Dec. 2.

Dunklin Court Considers Food Stamp Program

KENNETT -- The Dunklin county court will take under advisement the federal food stamp program, according to Judge John Scott, who was presented an outlined review of the program by civic leaders.

The program, which has been approved by the United States government and has been successfully tried by Tennessee and other states, would change the present plan of commodity food distribution to individual purchase by means of the food stamps.

The civic leaders reported that this program, under government supervision, has proved more economical in handling and that the percentage of take-home food has, in most cases, increased 20 per cent. The plan calls for the stamps to be used by individuals in the purchase of food in quantities as needed and according to their desires. The stamps are given to grocers in exchange for the food and the grocer then deposits them at a local bank which redeems them at face value.

According to reports from other areas where the stamp plan is used, this program has been an aid to the community grocer and an improvement in economy as well as an assistance to the individual who could plan his food purchase on a day to day basis.

Judge Scott said the plan will be studied by the county court and discussed fully with governmental agents. It will probably take at least six months to complete the study and an opinion will be released to the public by the court at this time.

"Terrible," said the husband.

"Okay," she returned, "pinch the baby!"

One Explanation of Doctor Shortage Is Quality Emphasis Limits Numbers

EDITOR'S NOTE -- In many realms of U.S. medicine, acute shortages are cropping up today. In part, they're due to the very successes of medical science. This second of five articles on medicine today examines some key areas of concern.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK AP -- Dozens of reasons are advanced as causes of today's shortage of doctors and health personnel. The diagnosis includes, ironically, two elements that have made American medicine very good indeed.

One is its quality, stemming partly from very high standards of medical school training, most observers point out. But this has limited the output, with only about 8,000 new doctors being graduated annually from U.S. schools.

Another is brilliant progress from research--new drugs, new surgical and medical and rehabilitation techniques, all making the physician far more effective than in the old sugar pill and sympathy days of medicine.

Today's doctors can do more. But, as in open-heart surgery, a whole team of surgeons, physicians, nurses and other skilled people may become involved for one patient at a time.

A cardiologist estimates 45,000 heart attack victims, who now die soon after their attacks, could be saved each year if major hospitals all had intensive care units. But each unit requires a 24-hour staff of nurses, doctors and technicians, razor sharp in skills, ready to rush to a patient's bedside at the first signal of trouble.

Too many go into research for "nice 9 to 5 jobs, leaving line seeing patients," says one busy New York City internist. "Lots of the research is minor."

Administrative tasks, government and military service, other jobs also employ doctors. Right now, only 63 out of every 100 U.S. doctors are engaged in private practice.

Each year, 10,000 young American men and women are turned down in their applications to enter medical schools--88 of them now. There are five schools of osteopathic medicine.

At least 13 new medical schools are being started, but it takes 10 years and $35 million or more from initial plans for a school to the first graduating class. And medical education is costly--$16,000 to $20,000 over four years.

Many rejected U.S. students have been going to foreign schools, but some of those schools are now closing their doors to them. Americans trained abroad are estimated to comprise about one-quarter of the 1,400 newly licensed doctors each year who studied outside the United States and Canada. The rest constitute part of the "brain drain" from other countries.

"Organized medicine and organizations of medical education are not facing up to the problems of the medical manpower shortage," says Dr. Eliot Corday of Los Angeles, president of the American College of Cardiology.

Organizations, like individuals often tend to resist change. Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of Houston, Tex., notes that professional organizations tend to become "guild-like, and rigidly and staunchly defend their health domains."

Is it still necessary to train all medical students alike, he asks? Present laws virtually require this--to obtain his license, the physician must pass examinations measuring his knowledge in many areas of medicine.

"But it is really necessary for an ophthalmologist to know how many bones there are in the foot?" he asked.

Numerous medical schools are in a ferment of re-examining and experimenting with their curricula, to streamline teaching, to make it more effective.

A few are experimenting with compressing four years of college and four of medical school into six years total for picked students, and report this approach looks promising.

Some observers stress a shortage of modern skills as a serious problem. The majority of doctors never go back to school for refresher courses, and are "practicing today's medicine with yesterday's tools and information," declared Dr. W. Albert Sullivan, Jr., of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

The manpower shortage includes pediatricians and physicians, medical school faculty--nearly 1,000 positions are listed as unfilled; nurses, technologists, medical social workers and librarians, hospital pharmacists, X-ray technicians, orderlies, and many others.

Low pay often is blamed. Girls can earn higher incomes, in most cities, as stenographers than registered nurses.

Some groups of hospital workers are notoriously underpaid, said Dr. John Knowles of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Boston, and "you can't feed the poor sawdust and expect them to protect your birthright." And if, as applies to some big hospitals, "You have dingy, shabby surroundings for people to work in, you wind up with shabby personnel, and not many of them."

Next: needs vs. tradition.

Here and There Teachers Give up Sick Leave to Aid

NEW HAVEN, Conn. AP -- Teachers donated a total of 108 days of their own sick leave to fellow teacher Russel J. Ryan who is recovering from heart surgery.

GROTON, Conn. AP -- One of the last two Polaris submarines to be built for the Navy will be launched April 23 at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The craft, the Francis Scott Key, is the 40th in the Navy's projected fleet of 41 Polaris submarines. The last one will be the Will Rogers, scheduled for launching this summer.

WINCHENDON, Mass. AP -- A front-page advertisement in the Courier, a weekly newspaper, may have puzzled a thief.

"If the person or persons who stole the outboard motor from my camp at Lake Monomac would like the gas can that goes with it, stop by at the store."

It was signed by John J.

O'Donnell, owner of an appliance store.

BERKELEY, Calif. AP -- There were 142 deaths in California due to pneumonia and influenza in the week ending March 5, state health officials said.

The total compares to 50 for that week a year ago, and 81 for the previous week.

BOSTON AP -- Boston Patrolman Thomas Stack has a specialty on the force. Stack has been a patrolman for 15 years and has delivered nine babies. When a maternity call comes to headquarters, his superiors usually call for Stack.

The patrolman has five children of his own, none delivered by Stack. "My wife would take one look at me and say, 'Scram!'" he says.

CAPE ELIZABETH, Maine AP -- The president of the Shipbuilders' Council of America says the Soviet Union soon will be able to manipulate world freight rates at will. Edwin M. Hood told the Portland Propeller Club, "The objective in enlarging her merchant marine is domination of world trade."

HOBBES, N. M. AP -- Grocery store manager Tommy Cloud took one look at the $75 check presented by a youth for payment. Cloud was dumbfounded. The check was a personal one written by Cloud and stolen from his car, he told police.

Batman Eyes Movies

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD AP -- Next for Batman is a caper of his own. He'll try to remove millions of dollars from the movie-goers of America.

Will theater patrons pay to see what they get free twice-weekly on their home screens? William Dozier thinks so, and he is backed by the corporate judgment of 20th Century-Fox. Dozier is more or less the father of television's "Batman," having masterminded the advent of the super-camp, caped crusader. The veteran producer confidently predicts Batman will prove successful as a feature film.

"When these things are hot, they are hot in many areas," he reasoned.

So he is proceeding with deliberate speed to produce a wide-screen feature. Lorenzo Semple, who created the original television segments, is writing the script. The television series will end April 6 and production on the feature will begin April 18.

"We'll finish May 20 and begin next year's series on June 13; that will give the actors time to catch their breaths," reported Dozier.

"How do they like the schedule? I've found it to be true that actors like money, especially actors who haven't seen much of it. Certainly Adam West was not exactly earning much before, and Burt Ward, who plays Robin, never made any money from acting."

What is Dozier giving the customers that they can't get on television?

"We'll also give the customers four villains in the film: the Penguin (Burgess Meredith), the Joker (Cesar Romero), the Riddler (Frank Gorshin) and the Cat Woman (Julie Newmar), who will be seen this week on the show."

Dozier is planning ahead for the next television season, during which he expects the show to maintain its batracting.

"We'll have even more fun with the guest stars," said the producer. "An amazing number of really classic actors have volunteered for roles. I'm talking about stars like Maurice Evans, Robert Morley, James

Mason, Bette Davis, Gloria Swanson, Raymond Massey, Cyril Ritchard.

Imports Are Blamed for Closing Mills

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK AP -- When a steel mill closes, as twodid recently, the American steel industry often blames the resulting loss of jobs on the record volume of low-priced steel imports.

And the importers just as often cry that the real cause of the closing was the mills were obsolete and couldn't compete with other domestic mills, let alone foreign ones.

The American steel industry is happy over its record output of 131 million tons last year and just as unhappy over the record import volume of 10.4 million tons, up from 6.4 million tons in 1964.

The industry claims that had that same amount of steel been made in American mills, there would have been close to 70,000 more jobs for steelworkers. Hence, the foreign competition meant that big a loss in job potential.

The American Iron and Steel Institute says it arrives at the 70,000 figure by using Department of Labor statistics holding that each billion dollars of sales in the steel industry involves 47,000 workers directly employed -- and almost as many more indirectly employed in allied industries. And the institute puts the value of imports last year at $1.3 billion.

The loss of jobs in a community where mills close can be tabulated and the damage to the local economy can be computed. But getting a national total is another thing, since other steel jobs may be opening up elsewhere.

Actually the average employment in the industry last year is put at 583,851, up more than 30,000 from 1964. And in some areas, such as Chicago, there were periods when a shortage of available steelworkers plagued the mills.

The Institute figures that 55,

000 persons were added to the work force -- or called back to duty -- at one time or another last year. But much of this was to replace those who died, retired or left to work in other fields. At the same time, automation of the steel mills also was taking a toll of jobs.

The American Institute that imported steel charges that steelworkers in this country are being laid off "because companies such as the U. S. Steel Corp., which recently closed its last remaining mill in Donora, Pa., and Jones & Laughlin, which this month shut down a mill plant at Alquippa, Pa., refuse to modernize plants built in the 19th century."

The importers also point to the reopening of some other plants because of the great demand for steel, which brought output close to production capacity.

American steel companies counter that they are spending $2.2 billion this year to build new mills or to modernize or replace obsolete plants. Imports really began to hurt when steel production here fell off last autumn. Now output is rising again, and employment with it. But the industry would like to see imports slowed down, legally or by persuasion. Importers are just as loud in proclaiming that foreign steel is helping American steel users, and thus creating some jobs here.

HOLLYWOOD AP -- Next for Batman is a caper of his own. He'll try to remove millions of dollars from the movie-goers of America.

Will theater patrons pay to see what they get free twice weekly on their home screens? William Dozier thinks so, and he is backed by the corporate judgment of 20th Century-Fox. Dozier is more or less the father of television's "Batman," having masterminded the advent of the super-camp, caped crusader. The veteran producer confidently predicts Batman will prove successful as a feature film.

"When these things are hot, they are hot in many areas," he reasoned. So he is proceeding with deliberate speed to produce a wide-screen feature. Lorenzo Semple, who created the original television segments, is writing the script. The television series will end April 6 and production on the feature will begin April 18.

"We'll finish May 20 and begin next year's series on June 13; that will give the actors time to catch their breaths," reported Dozier. "How do they like the schedule? I've found it to be true that actors like money, especially actors who haven't seen much of it. Certainly Adam West was not exactly earning much before, and Burt Ward, who plays Robin, never made any money from acting."

What is Dozier giving the customers that they can't get on television? "We'll also give the customers four villains in the film: the Penguin (Burgess Meredith), the Joker (Cesar Romero), the Riddler (Frank Gorshin) and the Cat Woman (Julie Newmar), who will be seen this week on the show."

Dozier is planning ahead for the next television season, during which he expects the show to maintain its batraining.

"We'll have even more fun with the guest stars," said the producer. "An amazing number of really classic actors have volunteered for roles. I'm talking about stars like Maurice Evans, Robert Morley, James

Mason, Bette Davis, Gloria Swanson, Raymond Massey, Cyril Ritchard.

Imports Are Blamed for Closing Mills

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK AP -- When a steel mill closes, as twodid recently, the American steel industry often blames the resulting loss of jobs on the record volume of low-priced steel imports.

And the importers just as often cry that the real cause of the closing was that the mills were obsolete and couldn't compete with other domestic mills, let alone foreign ones.

The American steel industry is happy over its record output of 131 million tons last year and just as unhappy over the record import volume of 10.4 million tons, up from 6.4 million tons in 1964.

The industry claims that had that same amount of steel been made in American mills, there would have been close to 70,000 more jobs for steelworkers. Hence, the foreign competition meant that big a loss in job potential.

The American Iron and Steel Institute says it arrives at the 70,000 figure by using Department of Labor statistics holding that each billion dollars of sales in the steel industry involves 47,000 workers directly employed -- and almost as many more indirectly employed in allied industries. And the institute puts the value of imports last year at $1.3 billion.

The loss of jobs in a community where mills close can be tabulated and the damage to the local economy can be computed. But getting a national total is another thing, since other steel jobs may be opening up elsewhere.

Actually the average employment in the industry last year is put at 583,851, up more than 30,000 from 1964. And in some areas, such as Chicago, there were periods when a shortage of available steelworkers plagued the mills.

The Institute figures that 55,

000 persons were added to the work force -- or called back to duty -- at one time or another last year. But much of this was to replace those who died, retired or left to work in other fields. At the same time, automation of the steel mills also was taking a toll of jobs.

The American Institute that steelworkers in this country are being laid off "because companies such as the U. S. Steel Corp., which recently closed its last remaining mill in Donora, Pa., and Jones & Laughlin, which this month shut down a nail plant at Alquippa, Pa., refuse to modernize plants built in the 19th century."

The importers also point to the reopening of some other plants because of the great demand for steel, which brought output close to production capacity.

American steel companies counter that they are spending $2.2 billion this year to build new mills or to modernize or replace obsolete plants.

Imports really began to hurt

when steel production here fell off last autumn. Now output is rising again, and employment with it. But the industry would like to see imports slowed down, legally or by persuasion. Importers are just as loud in proclaiming that foreign steel is helping American steel users, and thus creating some jobs here.
